

A Chance for Northern Farmers.

Are you tired of our cold northern winters, with their sickness and disease? Are you tired worrying over the danger of a crop failure and consequent financial ruin? Are you tired of working hard all season without a fair financial return on your efforts?

Don't let it go at this, and live where the air is always bracingly healthy; where the land can be made to produce almost anything and taxes are almost nothing and churches and schools are everywhere in the country thickly settled.

All of these advantages can be secured along the lines of a double tracked railroad, and with the greatest markets in the United States at your very door.

A postal or letter addressed to the undersigned will bring you FREE OF CHARGE, descriptive matter and full particulars.

"Over Niagara Falls" Oct. 7.

"Over Niagara Falls," Rowland Clifford's scenic production, which will be the offering at the Traders Grand opera house on Oct. 7, is heralded as the sensational success of the season. It is said to be superbly mounted, to abound in heroic scenes and startling situations. Several mechanical effects, new to the stage, are introduced, the principal one being a reproduction of Niagara Falls, over which the leading lady makes a thrilling descent in a most sensational manner. An especially strong cast will be seen in the various roles.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MISS ANNA WEBB.

An Indiana Woman Who is an Expert in Her Business.

Miss Anna Webb of Summitville, Ind., is one of the few women millers of the country and the only one in Indiana who gives her personal attention to every detail of the business, being her own bookkeeper, assisting in weighing grain, sacking flour and meal and traveling through the community calling upon the trade.

When a few years ago her father, L. K. Webb, the town miller, died he left as a heritage to his widow and family the little town mill. A brother-in-law volunteered to take hold of the business, but, being unfamiliar with that line of work, he was unable to keep the mill up to its standard, and the daughter of the dead miller came to the rescue, taking sole management.

Her success has been pronounced. The little mill has risen to the dignity of a fifty barrel roller mill, with all modern machinery and new equipment. And all mortgages have been removed. Miss Webb is a charter member of the Indiana Millers' association and is secretary of the Madison county division.

At a recent meeting of the Indiana Grain Dealers' association she was admitted to honorary membership. She is the youngest mill manager in the state. Though beset by newspaper men and magazine writers, she modestly expresses her desire to remain "out of print," and consented to have the accompanying photograph taken only after much persuasion.

Giving Away Clothes.

There are two ways of giving away old things—good and immoral. Those who are glibly of the latter are the people who give the poor as sort of garbage barrel, something in which to dump everything that is useless. They are the people who give to their wretched white trash and things too ragged for any human being to make use of. They are the women—it seems incredible, but it is true—who carefully cut off all the buttons on any garment that is to be given away and never think of mending anything. With such persons giving is not a virtue but a convenience. They feel they can rid themselves of much rubbish and yet obtain a reputation for charity. A ray of illumination on this subject was obtained by one woman on seeing a box, householder during some old stock sale. "I must get these finished," said this latter. "I want to send them down to Mrs. (mentioning a pensioner) to day." "You don't mean to say you darn the stockings you give away?" exclaimed the visitor. "Why, of course I do," was the reply. "They are generally too busy as too careless to do it themselves."—Pittsburg Press.

The Wholesome Girl.

People may laugh at the idea of plain friendship, but there never was a time when the comradeship between men and girls was so healthy and natural as at the present day. Men used to expect no companionship intellectually and least of all in their sports. But the modern girl meets a man in a charmingly frank fashion. There is something very fresh and healthy and sincere about her. There can be no morbid sentimentality in a girl who plays golf instead of reading French novels. Neither does a girl who is fond of athletics and outdoor life necessarily grow masculine. She joins the men in canoeing, wheeling or sailing, and so great is her proficiency in these sports that she is no hindrance, but rather a great addition to their pleasure. Men and girls meet on common ground, and in the friendliness and healthfulness of the great outdoors they have the nicest sort of comradeship and form firm friendships.

Since they know men better in this natural sort of way girls are less apt to rush into early marriages after seeing a man half a dozen times in society.—New Idea Magazine.

SURE CURE FOR PILES.

Itching Piles produce moisture and cause itching. This form, as well as Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles, are cured by Dr. Bo-sun-ko's File Remedy. Stops itching and bleeding. Absorbs tumors. 50c a jar at druggists, or sent by mail. Treatise free. Write me about your case. Dr. Bosanko, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Stone & Mercer, Druggists.

A Fussy Nuisance.

Of a prominent lecturer of London an acquaintance says: "On one occasion he was the guest of a friend of mine, a busy Liverpool merchant, and when the popular lecturer returned from the hall he asked for all sorts of impossible dishes and liquid concoctions peculiar to abstainers, a demand which somewhat upset the routine of the household. When in bed his nervous temperament was tried; he could not bear the ticking of the clocks, so he paraded the house in the small hours of the morning and stopped them all. In consequence of this the servants had to be roused by violent bell ringing. But the guest was not to be distressed, so he arose again and ordered the servants back to their rooms and locked them in and then went back to bed."

A Belle of Barbarian.

In ancient times it was the custom of the victors in a battle to decorate their doorposts with the skulls of the vanquished. With the advance of civilization of course we no longer continue this bit of barbarism, but the custom has not been allowed to drop altogether, as is seen by the stone balls which are often set on gateposts, a relic of a barbarous idea of long ago. In certain parts of Africa the skulls are still used as decorations. Whole villages may be seen with the doorposts of the houses surmounted in this gruesome fashion.

Dress of South African Tribes.

Fashions among the native tribes of South Africa are thus described by a recent writer: "During one season the people are all wearing safety pins as earrings; the next season no one will look at them, for pins are 'out' and buttons are 'in.' In one tribe blue spotted cotton handkerchiefs are all the rage, but fifty miles away no one will look at such things—they want cotton shirts. The only universal ornament, perhaps, consists in beadwork. Some tribes, such as the Fingoes and Zulus, take to beadwork more than others; the one thing they are all consistent in is a strangely good taste for color combination. They never indulge in a combination of gaudy colors, never affect an inharmonious color scheme, thus bearing out Ruskin's statement that bad taste in color does not arise in people who are left to themselves and nature." Hairdressing is a prodigious business among them. The process is assisted by a liberal use of red clay, and as the perfected work of art is expected to last a month the head is permitted to rest on the nape of the neck only when the owner sleeps.

CHOKING CATARRH CURED.

Mr. Caswell Says, "Hyomei Cured Me" Your Money Back if it Does Not Cure You.

"Use Hyomei and be cured of catarrh" is what all who have tried it for that disease say to their friends.

O. S. Caswell, of North Middleboro, Mass., writes: "Hyomei has relieved me from a choking catarrh trouble and cleared my head. I am glad to recommend it to my friends."

It is the easiest thing in the world to stop catarrh or a catarrhal cold at its beginning if you use Hyomei. Just breathe the health giving, balsamic air for a few minutes and your catarrh will be cured.

In this and neighboring towns there are hundreds that can testify to the remarkable powers of Hyomei to cure catarrh. Many of the staunchest friends of this remedy began its use with little hope that they would be cured, but as C. D. Sturm & Co. offer to refund the money if it did not benefit, they decided to try it on that plan, and were soon restored to health.
